AWARDS

The Bruno Klopfer Award is given for outstanding, long-term professional contribution to the field of personality assessment. Thursday, March 25, 2008, 3:00 pm

The Marguerite R. Hertz Memorial is a tribute to Dr. Hertz for her long-term professional contributions to personality assessment, and is presented by the Society each year in honor of a deceased eminence from the field of personality assessment. This year's honoree is Jane Loevinger, Ph.D. Jane Loevinger was told to forget graduate school and to get married because no one would hire a Jewish woman. Eventually she married a chemist, Sam Weissman, who, after a stint at Los Alamos, worked at Washington University in St. Louis for his entire career. She raised two children who became professors, and had two grandchildren. She had to continue to overcome substantial persistent obstacles to pursue her career as a woman in St. Louis. She challenged fundamental concepts in various fields. For example, she challenged the understanding of validity in psychometrics ("Objective test as instruments of psychological theory," 1957) and she sharply criticized some of the empty verbalisms that psychoanalysis treated on the same footing as its genuine insights. Most importantly, in constructing her own theory of character development, she let data guide her own insight. Her wit, both written and oral, was legendary. In this celebration we recount some of that, and also her lesser-known soft side. Her family and former students will relate personal accounts and welcome stories from her long-time friends in the Society. Thursday, March 25, 2010, 5:30 pm

The Samuel J. And Anne G. Beck Award is given for outstanding early career research in the field of personality assessment. The award is presented in conjunction with the University of Chicago at the Annual Meeting. This year's recipient will be given his award during the Friday night reception. Friday, March 26, 2010, 6:00 pm

The Walter Klopfer Award is given for distinguished contribution to the literature in personality assessment. A review committee chaired by the Journal editor selects the outstanding article in the previous year's Journal of Personality Assessment. Friday, March 26, 2010, 6:00 pm

The Martin Mayman Award is presented for distinguished contribution to the literature of personality assessment for an outstanding case study, qualitative research paper, or theoretical development published in the previous year's Journal of Personality Assessment and selected by a review committee chaired by the Journal editor. Friday, March 26, 2010, 6:00 pm

The Mary S. Cerney Student Award is awarded to the best personality assessment research paper by a graduate student. Friday, March 26, 2010, 6:00 pm
